

JOIN US! Saturday, Feb. 1, 2025

The University of Nebraska Medical Center is excited to invite you to 2025 Hematology Highlights: A Post-ASH Review, our 18th annual regional conference. This conference offers a valuable opportunity to explore the latest research and clinical insights from the 2024 American Society of Hematology (ASH) Annual Meeting.

This year's conference will focus on key topics, including myeloid diseases, lymphoid and plasma cell diseases, clotting disorders, and geriatric oncology. Presentations will be led by distinguished experts, followed by interactive Q&A sessions to deepen your understanding and foster dynamic discussions with colleagues.

Don't miss out on this highly anticipated event, where you can enhance your knowledge, network with peers, and stay at the forefront of developments in hematology and oncology. We look forward to welcoming you to this engaging and informative conference.
